

Mt. Taylor looms above the sandstone bluffs of El Malpais National Monument in New Mexico. Two million dollars from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund would add the Bandera Ice Caves to this geological mecca. The fund could improve other New Mexico natural areas, too, by adding Elk Meadows to Bandelier National Monument and Baca Ranch to the Santa Fe National Forest. Photograph by Laurence Parent.

Dear Mr. Breitenbach,
Please help CALFED
adopt a plan that
maximizes water efficiency, and conservation. There are few examples of
dams and reservoirs
improving the environment.
